NJAFM 2012

A Word from the Board:

On behalf of the NJAFM Board of Directors, a hearty “welcome” is extended to all new and renewing NJAFM members, as well as our partners and floodplain professionals.

2012 is shaping up to be a very productive year, as we are planning for our 8th Annual Conference at the Palace in Somerset NJ. Mark your calendars for October 2nd and 3rd, and be sure to let colleagues know about the event. We are anticipating a large turnout and interactive discussion on current and critical issues facing New Jersey’s floodplain management community.

We are also busy at work developing partnerships with other non-profits, academic and governmental partners as well as the private sector. These partnerships are resulting in upcoming training and outreach opportunities, networking and lots more, so stay tuned to our website for news and announcements. If your business or agency is interested in partnering, please let us know!

We have also set up a group on LinkedIn, the professional networking site. Be sure to join us to chat about jobs, legislation and other topics that impact our communities. Our goal is to promote networking and collaboration outside our training and conference events.

Finally, if you would like to help with arranging events, training, outreach or other activities, volunteer with us - the entire Board is “volunteer”, so we can always use extra help!

Many thanks for your membership, participation and interest!

8th Annual Conference, October 2 - 3, 2012

The Palace at Somerset Park, Somerset, NJ

SAVE THE DATE!

Planning for the 8th Annual NJAFM Conference is well underway, with the theme of "Breaking the Cycle". We anticipate this to be our largest event yet, and are working to enhance the breadth and depth of presentations to appeal to floodplain management professionals statewide.

The two-day annual conference is an excellent opportunity to network and exchange ideas while acquiring the latest technical knowledge and regulatory information regarding floodplain management.

SPEAKERS:

If you are interested in delivering a presentation, please see the NJAFM website for abstract submission (coming soon!) and contact information for our Conference Committee Chairs.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDITS:

Continuing education credits may be available for Code Officials, Certified Floodplain Managers, Certified Public Works Managers, Professional Planners, Professional Engineers (NJ & PA), and NJ Professional Land Surveyors.

We welcome your attention and look forward to seeing everyone at the Palace!

“Connect” with us...

NJAFM now has a Group on LinkedIn. This is a great way to network with colleagues who face the same issues as you do regarding floodplain management in New Jersey. You can connect with people in related fields that you may not normally see day-to-day but that can be valuable resources for your work — building code officials, emergency managers, engineers, consultants, and a wide variety of other professionals (and skill sets!).

Be sure to use the LinkedIn Group to chat with colleagues about topics of interest, such as legislation, regulations, new technologies and products, or even to advertise employment opportunities and availability!

Our common goals for improving floodplain management in New Jersey may be strengthened through networking.

The NJAFM LinkedIn Group is open to all current members, so be sure to join NJAFM and then join us on LinkedIn!

Should you have trouble joining the NJAFM Group, please contact secretary@njafm.org for assistance.

NFIP and CRS Training Course

March 21, 2012 Ocean County, NJ

Register Now!

We have our second free 2012 training opportunity for March. NJAFM members may register now on the NJAFM website.

We are partnering with FEMA Region II to provide a National Flood Insurance Program and Community Rating System course in Ocean County. This course will provide participants with an understanding of the history and purpose of the National Flood Insurance Program and Ocean County's role and responsibilities as a participating community. Furthermore, it will provide information on the benefits and requirements of the Community Rating System as well as an update on FEMA's new coastal flood risk study.

This event is open to all NJAFM members, not just those active in Ocean County. Space is limited, so register soon.

Attendance for the full course (four hours) will earn 3.0 CFM Credits for those earning annual credits for certification.

For more information and registration: www.njafm.org and select the “Calendar” link.

Thanks to FEMA for this partnering opportunity!

Stormwater Committee News

The Stormwater Committee is currently looking for suggestions for identification of potential presenters on stormwater management quantity for the upcoming NJAFM Conference. The particular emphasis is on quantity through various measures including soil infiltration, where precipitation first meets the land.

The Stormwater Committee theme could be best described as a subset of the overall Conference theme – “Breaking the Cycle – Keeping the Rain Where it Falls”. Please let either Ray Zabihach or Greg Westfall know of your suggestions. They can be contacted at: Romanzab@optonline.net or gregory.westfall@nj.usda.gov.

Upcoming stormwater-related events with NJAFM partners:

Please check our “Calendar” on the NJAFM website for a wide variety of events including these related to stormwater management:

March 14th: Subsurface Gravel Wetland Design and Porous Pavement Design Workshops, Morristown, Piscataway and Toms River, NJ

May 30th: Soil Health Conference, Toms River, NJ.

New Jersey Association for Floodplain Management

P.O. Box 1326
Trenton, NJ

Mission Statement

NJAFM is dedicated to reducing loss of life and property damage resulting from floods and promoting sound floodplain management at all levels of government.

NJAFM holds monthly Board of Directors meetings on the third Tuesday of every month at the USGS Water Science Center in Trenton, NJ. Members are welcome to attend! Meeting agendas and minutes are on the “Members-Only” section of our website.

Please see the “Contact Us” section of the NJAFM website for contact information and the “Calendar” on the website for a comprehensive view of upcoming events and notices.

Committees....how do I get involved??

NJAFM is committed to serving its membership in addressing important issues to improve floodplain management in New Jersey. As you can imagine, this is a HUGE task, and not an easy one either!

How does NJAFM operate?

NJAFM has a set of Committees that coordinate with each other and NJAFM Officers to arrange the training, conference, website and other events you see in this Newsletter and NJAFM E-mail notifications.

All NJAFM Officers and Committee Chairs are volunteer, and of course (as with any volunteer organization) new volunteers are always welcome!

If you have ideas to help foster activities, collaboration, information and action, or if you simply want to join a new group of colleagues, please volunteer for a committee or two! Some committees have Chair vacancies as well, so you may want to pursue a leadership role.

Do you have interest in any of the following Committees?

- Awards and Scholarship
- Community Rating System
 - Conference
 - Membership
 - Stormwater
- Legislative (Chair vacancy)
- Outreach (Chair vacancy)
- Training (Chair vacancy)

If so, please contact the Committee Chair as noted on the NJAFM website “Contact Us” link, or email chair@njafm.org if you want to volunteer as a Committee Chair.

Participation as a Committee Chair includes attendance at monthly Board meetings and coordination of activities and volunteers for that committee. We are an organization of volunteers, all are welcome!
